Searches were conducted at the central office of the Dobroflot company in Primorye. At the moment, there is no official information about the reasons for the visit of masked security forces. However, according to some reports, the special operation may be connected with a criminal case initiated due to injuries to one of the sailors, who lost his arm.

The source reports that investigators have opened several criminal cases against ordinary employees of the company. The workers are allegedly suspected of a number of violations that could have led to the emergency.

Let us recall that the incident occurred in the Sea of Okhotsk.

– We unloaded at the floating base, moved away and half an hour later began setting up the trawl. And then the trawl went into the water, we unhooked everything and the last one was the pull-out rope. I pull out the rope, I hear a crash from behind. It turns out that the trawl iron board weighing 1.5 tons came off the stopper. Another second and the hand is pressed to the fence of the slipway by the rope. And then the hand is pulled in, chewed up now under the elbow... Everything is torn: blood, an open wound, the bone is visible, – said a resident of Kaliningrad, sailor Viktor Boshko.

About 40 minutes later, he was taken to the nearest floating base, Zaliv Vostok. In the middle of the sea, the man underwent emergency surgery, which the ship's doctors say was successful, and ten days later he was taken to the port of Nakhodka. But already on the shore, complications began and the injured limb had to be amputated at the elbow. The injured sailor blames the company, believing that he should have been urgently taken to the port of Magadan, since it was much closer. And the road to Nakhodka, according to him, turned out to be too long because it took some time to transfer the fish from the floating base to the transport vessel. He contacted the police and the media.

Dobroflot did not ignore this story. As the company explained, the problem is that the sailor grossly violated technical safety rules by working in a restricted area near metal cables that were under load. Representatives of the group of companies note that the sailor was given all the necessary assistance and even decided to perform an operation in difficult conditions to save his hand. The employee received monetary compensation under the insurance.

Regarding the current searches, the press service of the Dobroflot group of companies explained that they do not understand what such large-scale forceful actions are connected with, so they cannot provide comments yet.
