Fish processing plant in Paradise caused outrage

The construction of a "fish waste processing, fish silage, fish oil and fish flour production facility" in the area between the Uzunkuyu and Zeytinler villages of Urla has caused environmentalists to revolt. Environmentalists wearing masks marched in protest towards the area where the facility, which is said to emit a very strong odor, will be built.

SONKALEİZMİR- Environmentalists who came together in Uzunkuyu Village of Urla organized a public information meeting. Expressing their reaction to the facility planned to be built in Zeytinler Neighborhood by Güven Balık Üretim ve Ticaret Limited Şirketi and whose Environmental Impact Assessment (EIA) decision was given the previous day as "not necessary", environmentalists wore masks and held a protest march.

Environmentalist Lawyer Şehrazat Mercan said that there was a very serious odor problem due to the old fish processing facility that had been in the region for years and that this situation would be worsened with the new facility. Emphasizing that the odor in the region especially in the summer months was unstoppable, Mercan announced that they would file a lawsuit.

IT WILL BE DEMOLISHED WITH ACID

The "Fish waste processing, fish silage and fish oil and fish flour production facility" is planned to process 60 tons of fish waste per day and 18 thousand tons of fish waste per year. The project's introduction file included information that acid will be added to fish waste to liquefy the fish. It was noted that organic acid will be used in silage production and formic acid will be preferred for this. The daily 32 cubic meters of wastewater to be released from the facility will be purified and then released into the nearest stream bed approved by DSI.

IT WILL NOT RELEASE DUST INTO THE AIR!

It was stated that the odor coming from the facility will be measured by the Provincial Directorate of Environment and Urbanization after it becomes operational. In the promotional file, it is claimed that the latest system filter will be used in the facility planned to produce 6,300 tons of fish meal and fish oil per year and that no dust will be released into the air.

CONTROL CONCERNS

Environmentalists, on the other hand, are concerned about whether the inspections of these situations highlighted in the introduction file will be carried out effectively.

Right above the purification section of this existing factory, fish waste is liquefied with formic acid to produce fish feed. We have complained to all state institutions for about two years. Excuse me, it smells like a dead dog. We have not received any results. If a larger facility is built, the stench of this formic acid will be indescribable and this place will become uninhabitable. I request the state men not to let thousands of people living here die just because the factory will make money. We are strong as a people. We will not let ourselves die. Best regards.
