Nghe An: Boiler explosion, 2 people injured but not reported

» Quynh Luu: Boiler explosion at Hai An Company

(Congannghean.vn)- The boiler explosion occurred at around 11 p.m. on June 17 at Hai An Company Limited in Quynh Thuan Commune, Quynh Luu District, injuring two people, including a foreign technical officer and a shift leader. In addition, two workers were also affected by the pressure from the exploded boiler.

It is worth mentioning that the above serious incident occurred related to ensuring fire and explosion safety in production, but the Company's leadership did not report to the local authorities, leading to the authorities in the district and province not knowing, even though the incident happened nearly a week ago.

Scene outside where the boiler explosion occurred

Hai An Company Limited is directed by Mr. Tran Van Tuong (born in 1973) residing in Truc Dai Commune, Truc Ninh District, Nam Dinh Province. This company specializes in producing fishmeal, with a foreigner in charge of the technical aspects. The workers at the company are mainly from Quynh Thuan Commune. However, on the night of June 17, a serious boiler explosion occurred at this company, causing panic among the people about unsafe production practices.

To find out the details of the incident, on the afternoon of June 19, we were present at Hai An Company Limited and were told by the agency's security guard that we had to go in and ask for the opinion of the company's leaders. However, about 5 minutes later, the security guard returned and replied: "No one from the company's leadership was present"?!

On the way to the People's Committee of Quynh Thuan commune along the trail behind this company, we accidentally discovered the scene outside where the boiler exploded. While we were taking pictures, the security guard of Hai An Company ran up to us and asked us not to take pictures, while this is not a special agency for national defense and security, filming and taking pictures is prohibited.

Immediately after that, we contacted Comrade To Van Mui, Chief of Quynh Thuan Commune Police, by phone. Comrade Mui confirmed that there was a boiler explosion at Hai An Company Ltd. at around 11pm on June 17, causing damage mainly to property.

"That night we did not receive any notice from the Company. It was not until the next day (June 18) that we heard the news and arrived at Hai An Company Limited to learn that the boiler explosion injured two people: Mr. Bui Quang Dai (born in 1975), residing in Quynh Thuan commune, the team leader directly managing the shift, and a foreign technical officer with a slight head injury, who has now returned to the country. In addition, Mr. Tran Hong Quynh (born in 1982) and Mr. Tran Dinh Chien, both residing in Quynh Thuan commune, Quynh Luu district, were also affected by the pressure from the steam," Mr. Mui said.

It is worth mentioning that Hai An Company Limited is located in Quynh Thuan commune, all incidents related to security and order must be reported to the local authorities. However, when the above boiler explosion occurred, the Company did not report to the local authorities and relevant agencies.

The fact that Hai An Company Ltd. let the boiler explode directly affected the security and order situation in the area, causing panic among workers, is a violation of regulations on ensuring fire and explosion safety in production and business. After the incident occurred but did not report to local authorities and functional agencies, another issue needs to be clarified. It is requested that functional agencies promptly investigate and clarify the cause of the boiler explosion at Hai An Company Ltd. for handling according to legal regulations.
