Permanently stop the polluted fishmeal production line that makes people miserable

Saturday, May 28, 2022, 14:22

CAND On May 28, the leader of Hai Son ward, Do Son district, Hai Phong city said that Viet Truong Company Limited has just decided to stop operating the polluting fishmeal production line at the Company's factory in Hai Son ward.

▪ Serious pollution at fishmeal processing plant makes people miserable

Previously, as reported, Viet Truong Company is the largest seafood processing and exporting enterprise in the North, headquartered in Vinh Niem Industrial Park, Le Chan District, Hai Phong City, with a factory located at the fishing port in Hai Son Ward, Do Son District, Hai Phong City. Recently, people living in this area have been extremely upset with this enterprise because they have had to live with pollution for many years without being treated or remedied.

At its peak, continuously for many days from mid-May, hundreds of people living in the area near the above factory, from young people to the elderly, brought loudspeakers, food and drinks to surround the factory, demanding to fix the air pollution emitted during the production and processing of fishmeal.

Faced with the above situation, the Department of Natural Resources and Environment of Hai Phong presided over and coordinated with the competent authorities of Do Son district and the Environmental Police force of Hai Phong City Police to inspect the compliance with environmental sanitation of Viet Truong Company. The working group also took samples to assess the quality of waste treatment of the enterprise, and at the same time requested the enterprise to provide invoices and documents proving compliance with the approved environmental impact assessment report.

People of Hai Son ward, Do Son district, Hai Phong city gathered to protest against the polluting fishmeal factory of Viet Truong Company.

According to Viet Truong Company's report, the cause of pollution is due to the air and dust extraction system generated from the crushing, screening, cooking, and drying processes at the fishmeal factory being degraded and not meeting the needs of dust and odor treatment during the production process.

On May 26, Viet Truong Company issued document No. 262/BC-MT, committing to permanently stop and relocate the fishmeal production line to a suitable location, and carry out environmental protection work in the area.
